

100 YEARS 1907-2007

Subject: Sharpview Head Start Center

Neighborhood Centers Inc., an over 100 year old social services organization, decided to expand our Head Start program in the Alief area of Houston. In order to do so, we needed to construct a new facility. Land was purchased, and Mission Construction was engaged to do the construction work. Mission assigned David Glenz as the Project Manager and Bryan Blaylock as the Superintendent for the project.

The project had a few issues such as City of Houston new requirements for storm water detention due to new zoning that required 8 foot pipes to be installed under the parking lot and an architect who at times did not get details correct such as ways to attach the ends of the building. Throughout these issues and during the complete construction project, I could count on Bryan to work through the problems and find ways to keep the project moving forward. Bryan addressed any and all issues with professionalism and a “can do” attitude. He built a wonderful building that will be a model for Head Start centers for years to come.

I would gladly work with Bryan on any project I have in the future.
